People have grown corn in Amerila for 100 years. Native Americans planted and ate corn long ago. When the pilgrims arrived, some Native Americans taught them how to grow it. Today the united states produces more corn them any other country. American farmers plant corn seeds in the spring when the weather is warm enough. If a farmer plants when the soil is too cold the seeds will rot.

Corn needs plenty of space to grow. It has to have a lot of sunshine and the right amount of water. If farmers have good weather, they can pick their corn by September. If the weather is too dry or cold or stormy, the corn may not grow very well.

When it is ready, many farmers sell their corn. People buy corn to eat, of course. Some companies buy corn to feed farm animals. Other companies buy it to produce different food items or drinks There are compaies that buy corn to make fuel cars, too! That fuel I called ethanol.

When the growing season is over, farmers let their rest. In the spring, many farmers will plant corn again.
