1. Write the answers for following questions.

“This is it....This is it – everything comes from this stuff...Money...Money...”

- To which work does this line belong? Name the writer.
- Who speaks these words? To whom?
- Which theme of the work deals with this line?

2. Read the following extracts and answer the questions at the end.

“So thou offend not again, here or in the ears of others, it shall be as though thou hadst not spoken. But thou needst not have misgiving. He is my sister’s son; are not his voice, his face, his form, familiar to me from his cradle ? Madness can do all the odd conflicting things thou seest in him, and more. This is the very prince, I know him well-and soon will be thy king; it may advantage thee to bear this in mind and more dwell upon it than the other.”

- Who utters these words? To whom?
- What is this situation?
- Write the contextual meanings of the given words or phrases in the passage.
 - Misgiving -
 - From his cradle -
- Is the decision of the speaker correct? What theme deals with the given extract?
What is revealed by his words?

3. “The main character in the poem “Upside Down” is a social misfit.” Discuss.

4. What themes are conveyed through the poem “Upside-Down”? Discuss.
