I am the computer that can do most of the work for me.

Preparation of budget reports, expenditure estimates etc.

Computer games

Sending emails

Preparation of documents (letters, report, study notes, etc.).

Find information on the Internet

Watching videos

The various programs on the computer that fulfill such user requirements are called application software.

1. Name the two application software components.
2. Write 2 examples for each.